IN THE CLAIMS

Please cancel claim 3 without prejudice.

Please cancel claims 4 to 9 and 11 to 15 without prejudice.

Please amend the remaining claims as follows:

1. (Amended) A window assembly comprising a retractable screen disposed with a screen cassette contained within a [framing] jamb pocket portion of a jamb of the assembly, ^{portion} said jamb pocket being defined by three sides of ^{the} the interior of said jamb, the screen accumulating on and paying out from a spring biased roll provided with said cassette disposed within said [frame] jamb pocket portion, the screen being retractable for egress or cleaning purposes, and available as desired [by providing a detent on the opposite frame portion engageable with the screen when in its operable position].

2. (Amended) The [screen] window assembly of claim 1 [which] wherein said retractable screen is [preferably] guided [to and from its operative position] in guides provided with [the jamb,] sill [or] and header, [and] portions of the window assembly which allows for (the ^{MM} manufacture) of heavier screens in larger sections [without continuously covering of the window].

10. (Amended) The [screen] window assembly of claim [8 or 9] 2 further comprising grooves disposed adjacent to the header and sill framing sections [depending on the window type] to receive an extension portion of [the] a handle of (the screen ^{MM} cassette assembly) also engaged with [the] keyed edges of the screen [assembly] and at the same time engaging the grooves to maintain the parallelism of [the] top and bottom [or side] portions of the handle when in motion [depending again on the window type] as the screen is payed out and accumulated on the screen roller contained with the pocket provided in the frame.

REMARKS

All claims except claims 1, and 2 and claim 10 have been cancelled herein. Therefore all of the rejections and objections addressing these cancelled claims are considered moot. All of the Examiner's indefiniteness concerns have been addressed.

Claims 1 and 2 and in view of the above amendments claim 10 now stand allegedly rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Thumann, United States Patent No. 5,505,244. In view of the amended language in the claims, including the limitation that the retractable screen is disposed within a hollow jamb pocket of a jamb portion of the assembly, it is clear that Thumann does not teach such a structure. Referring now to United States Patent No. 5,505,244 there is taught
